Okay year-round plan

MOKENA — Under a resolution passed by the Mokena board of education, school administrators are to further investigate a year-round school plan for District 159. It was agreed that the starting date be considered somewhere between July 1, 1974 and July 1, 1977, should the plan be adopted.

A waiting period is necessary, until enrollment exceeds 1,000 and there are at least four sections of pupils per grade. It was further decided by the board to develop an effective public relations program informing the community of the advantages of the year-round calendar. One way planned to provide a "Dial-to-Education" service to give information about the year-round program and other items of school news. By dialing 479-2130, one can listen to a two-minute taped program giving news about the Mokena school system.

The administration is favoring a nine-week in school, three-week vacation type of calendar. The plan is similar to the Valley View 45-15 day plan, but is more like the Becky-David School Calendar adopted at St. Charles, Mo. Valley View works on a day basis that could start in the middle of a week. The Mokena plan would be on a week basis, Monday through Friday, for nine weeks. Then there would be three weeks of vacation, Superintendent James Ennis said.

The school district will be divided into four geographical regions so that pupils from all grade levels (K-8) are in four equal groups, with three groups always in school, while one is on vacation. There will be no family splits — all families and neighborhoods will be in the same group.

It was also decided to augment the continuous in-service training program for the teaching staff, Ennis said, to aid in the development of a completely individualized instructional program for students. This type of instruction is necessary, Ennis added, when using a year-round school calendar.

It was agreed by the board that no building program will be conducted during the proposed waiting period, although some emergency housing will be needed on a temporary basis.

It was pointed out that eventually additional classroom space will be necessary but not as often. Everytime classrooms are built, it was said, one-fourth less will need to be constructed.

The State is providing grants to make a feasibility study, Ennis said, and the board decided to apply for funds to conduct this inquiry for Mokena.

In his report to the board Ennis said that the year-round school calendar should be started only when it is practical to do so. He said that careful planning and establishment of objectives must be developed to make the program successful and operational.

He further stated that if during the waiting time and the study the year-round school plan is found to be impractical the idea can be abandoned, without any loss, other than time. Even after the first year it would not be difficult to return to the traditional nine-month school, Ennis said.

He felt that the system would always remain ahead, for the updating of the curriculum to better individualize its program for each student would be more than worthwhile.

The school board is asking that citizens and parents keep an open mind on the year-round school plan. A full report has been completed, it was said, for interested person. This report is available upon request by calling the district office, 479-2138, it was said. A library of materials concerning the year-round school plan is also available for loan.

The board invites questions, whether by telephone through the district office, or by attending board meetings. The school board meets at Carpenter Street School the second and fourth Wednesdays. From September through May the meetings begin at 7:30 p.m.; from June through August the starting time is 8 p.m. A visitors forum time is on each agenda.

Buy building? voters decide

MOKENA — A referendum to decide whether the village shall purchase the Walter Yunker building on Front Street is to be held on Oct. 9. Date for the referendum was set at the meeting of the village board last week.

Three judges of election also were named, Charlene Bergman, Eleanor Hostert and Shirley Hill.

The property the village would purchase is located at 11120 Front St. It is now used to store some of the equipment Yunker utilizes as township highway commissioner and a real estate firm occupies office space in front.

The village would use the building for a garage and also as a police headquarters. The price is $75,000 and the village would purchase it over a 10-year period at $7,500 a year, plus interest.

Fall fun

That the Frankfort Fall Festival is a popular diversion is shown in last year's crowd and on a rainy day at that. The festival this year will be Sept. 2, 3 and 4. There will be rides, many booths showing a variety of wares and lots to eat. One of the perennial events will be the Frankfort Lions Club annual sauerkraut and wiener supper at the Veterans' Memorial Building Saturday, Sept. 2.

ICC denies increase to Prestwick Utility

FRANKFORT SQUARE — Petitions of Prestwick Utilities Co., operator of the water and sewer services for Frankfort Square and Prestwick, for a raise in rates are in the position of being temporarily denied by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The new rates, which would have become effective Sept. 1, have been suspended, according to Patrick J. O'Brien, treasurer of the utility firm. O'Brien said he had no idea as to when the ICC would hold a hearing.

"It (the ICC) will notify us when it will take up the case," O'Brien said. "Meanwhile the rates that have been in force will prevail."

The proposed new rates would be quite a jump. The charge for sewer treatment would advance from $4.75 to $6.35 per month. The price of water would go from $1.15 for the first 12,000 gallons to $6.44 for the first 4,000 gallons per month. The minimum rate for water under the proposed rates would be $6.44 per month and $6.65 per month for sewer service, or a total of $13.09.

The minimum rate at Mokena is $7.50 for 4,000 gallons of water and $1.70 for sewer service, or $9.20 for two months. The minimum rate for sewer and water at Frankfort is $13 for two months on a 4,000 gallon basis. Frankfort is different that many communities in that the water rate is lower than the sewer rate. The water rate is $4 and the sewer rate $9.

At Arbury Hills, which is also served by a private utility company the monthly minimum rate for water is $5.20, and the sewer rate, $4.75, or a combination rate of $9.95 cents per month. The charge is an additional $1.30 per 1,000 gallons for the next 4,000 gallons; the rate is $1.05 up to 10,000 gallons; 90 cents per 1,000 for 12,000 additional gallons; 70 cents for 20,000 and over 20,000 gallons to 40,000 gallons, 50 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The proposed meter rate for Frankfort Square and Prestwick is $1.61 per 1,000 for the first 4,000 gallons; the next 4,000 gallons per month is $1.26 per 1,000; the next 12,000 gallons per month, $1.05 per 1,000; the next 20,000 gallons, 84 cents per 1,000 and over 40,000 gallons per month, 49 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Prestwick Utility Co. is now operating two sewage treatment plants, one in the Prestwick development and one at Frankfort Square.

No one in the development of Prestwick or Frankfort Square is connected with Prestwick Utility, O'Brien said. It is a private company selling water and sewage treatment to resident of the two developments.

No commercial rate is posted for the water service but there is one for sewage treatment. The commercial rate would be 85 per cent of the water bill with a minimum of $6.65 per month, according to the proposed schedule.

Persons interested in the proposed increase in rates may write to the Prestwick Utilities Co. at 432 Green Bay Road, Kenilworth, Ill., 60043, or the Illinois Commerce Commission, 160 N. Wells St., Chicago, Ill.

Present rates charged by Prestwick Utility Co. per month are: $1.15 per 1,000 gallons for first 12,000 gallons; 90 cents per 1,000 gallons for next 12,000 gallons; 75 cents per 1,000 gallons for next 36,000 gallons; 60 cents per 1,000 gallons for next 60,000 gallons, and 35 cents per 1,000 gallons over 120,000 gallons.

Village votes improvements for Brightwood sewers, water

MOKENA — Another step toward providing Britewood residents with sewer and water service was taken last week when the Mokena board of local improvements voted to recommend that the village board proceed with the improvements on a special assessment basis.

It was expected that the village board would set at its regular meeting next Tuesday night. Then comes the court hearing and the spreading of the assessment rolls and the taking of bids.

It was brought out at the public hearing on the improvements in the Mokena village hall July 31 that if the bids are in excess of the engineer's estimate by more than 10 per cent the whole procedure starts over again.

The board of local improvements convened at 11 p.m., at the conclusion of the regular council meeting and while not as many residents of Brightwood were present as at the public hearing most of the chairs in the board chamber were filled.

It was apparent that the Brightwood people want the sewer and water but they think the cost is too great. George Barber, village engineer, had estimated that the cost for the sewer and water would run approximately $36 a foot. Whether the special assessment will be spread according to square footage, per lot, or linear foot has not been determined.

Douglas Hutchinson, a law partner of Village Attorney George E. Sangmeister with considerable experience in special assessment work, told those attending the public hearing that they wouldn't really know what the job will cost until a contract is let. Some of the people with 100-foot lots talk about the cost as $3,600 but others pointed out that before it was all done the cost could run $4,000 or $5,000 a lot. Two or three present said they figure the improvements will cost them $50 a month, and that on top of everything else that is too much.

Village officials said the municipality does not have any money to pay a part of the cost. Mayor Will Tuttle said that the village expected there would be other residents desirous of tapping on to these lines and that the tap-on fees paid by such people would be used to rebate some of the costs borne by Brightwood dwellers.

The Brightwood people at the meeting last week, or most of them at least, objected to paying for oversized pipe. This is not needed to take care of their own sewage, they pointed out, and if the village wanted oversized pipe let the village pay for it. Mayor Tuttle explained that the oversized pipe for part of the sewer system was necessary if property owners outside the subdivision were to tap-on, and the reason of such tap-ons the people in Brightwood would ultimately get a rebate on the charges for their utilities.

Some of the audience took the village to task for not having put in the sewer and water two years ago when Brightwood annexed to the village. The mayor explained that at that time the village believed the Owens Land Trust development would become a reality and the plans called for a sewage treatment plant on Hickory Creek close by Brightwood. A sewer line there would be gravity flow all the way. But the land trust plans never got off the ground nor did the succeeding owners go ahead with the sewer plant, altho the plans for it had been approved by the state. It was in the hope of getting a break for Brightwood that the village delegated action on the improvement, Tuttle said.

Brightwood people began pushing the village on the sewer improvement, according to officials, so it was finally decided to run the line from there to the village treatment plant on Wolf Road.

The mayor said residents along Wolf Road threatened to sue the village if more users were looked onto their main. When Hillcrest Builders made plans to run a sewer line to the Wolf Street plant, engineers advised that the Brightwood main be made part of it. There will have to be a lift station in Brightwood and a force main to 116th Street, where gravity flow will take over.

The lift station, the installation of the line under the Rock Island railway tracks and Francis Road adds considerable to the cost, the village engineers pointed out, and too, he added, the cost of material and labor have gone up. As an example pipe that was $5 a foot two years ago is now $8.10.

Some of the property owners suggested that the village make a vigorous effort to get a government grant, meanwhile holding up on the proposed improvement. Mayor Tuttle said that the village has been trying to get help from the federal government but without success. Brightwood is a section where the homes are expensive, and the mayor added that HUD has been passing up such sections in lading out grants.

Several of the people present said they could not afford to pay what the sewer will cost. They mayor told them that if they could bring in substantial proof that the people of Brightwood do not want the sewer and water it would not be put in.

Some of those at the meeting talked of fighting the proposed improvement, of possibly going to court.

It has been pointed out that the Brightwood area, like most of the area, is not suitable for septic tanks. Continued use of this method of sewage disposal could bring the property owners into conflict with the county health department, it was said. The only other course is to hook-up with the village sewer system, it was said. As a whole the people at the two hearings appeared to be in favor of the sewer and water improvements but didn't want the pay for it at the price indicated.

Mobile X-Ray unit will stop in Mokena

MOKENA — All persons in the area around Mokena will have the opportunity to have a free chest x-ray taken when the mobile x-ray unit visits Mokena next Wednesday, Aug. 23.

The unit for free x-rays will be stationed near the bank, probably in the northwest corner of the parking mall. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Any resident of the area, who is over 18 years of age and wants a free chest x-ray, can visit the unit that day.

The chest x-ray which takes only a minute, not only can detect early stages of tuberculosis, but also heart problems and tumors. Although x-rays are available to anyone over 18, it is recommended, by those in charge, that persons x-rayed within the last year and women who are pregnant not be x-rayed unless they have a specific referral from their private physician.

The x-ray, it was explained, is being offered in an attempt to locate early undiagnosed tuberculosis, which can exist without any apparent symptoms, as a Christmas Seal service of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of North Central Illinois.

Lincoln-Way

Board reaffirms tuition stand

NEW LENOX — The Lincoln-Way High School board at its meeting last Thursday night re-affirmed its policy on tuition students. A student in his senior year is permitted to complete it, even though his family has moved out of the district. But students who have more than a year to finish will not be permitted to do so if their home is outside the district.

On the other hand if the family is in the process of building a home in the district that they will occupy during the school year, children of high school age may attend Lincoln-Way by payment of $110 a month, tuition.

The question about non-district students was raised when a family that moved away asked that a son be permitted to continue his junior and senior years at Lincoln-Way. The request was denied.

Superintendent Joe Kruzich reported to the board that the school has received a letter of recognition from the state.

This letter, which is from the office of the State Office of Public Instruction, gave the school an excellent evaluation. This recognition, the superintendent said, confirms that the school is meeting all the requirements in its educational and operational programs and is, therefore, entitled to state aid.

The board approved contracts with Weber Dairy, Joliet, for dairy products; with Rainbow Baking Co. for bread and buns; Seamon's Food Store for meats, and New Lenox Standard Oil for fuel oil. It was reported that under the Weber bid the school saves $45 every three months. Kruzich said the school saves $30 a day on the Rainbow Bakery bid, on buns alone. The students eat 1,500 to 1,800 buns every school day.

The school is saving a half cent a gallon on the fuel oil bid. Oil consumption in the heating season is 1,000 gallons a week, it was said.

Superintendent Kruzich reported that the house built by vocational students has been sold for $35,000 and the money will be used to purchase two more lots and continue the program.

Superintendent Kruzich also reported that in compliance with a request from State Attorney General William J. School, he submitted the costs of certain books and plumbing fixtures purchased by the school.

Scott is proceeding against companies who he suspects of having fixed prices. Kruzich said that Lincoln-Way has received $634.79 recovered from the publishing firm which will be placed in the textbook-library fund, and $239.68 on the plumbing fixtures, which will go into the building fund.

Recycling possibly best waste answer

By Mary Straub

In this last article of a series we review progress in disposal methods and summarize what is currently taking place in and around Chicago and the Southwest Cook County area and elsewhere.

In July the Cook County Council of Governments (COG) voted to support a county application for federal funding to study solid waste disposal in the southwest suburbs. Ted Brzyski of the Cook County Planning Department presented the application at the department's regular monthly meeting.

As a state, Illinois was rather late in applying for federal funds to expedite a solid waste management program; it was the last of the midwestern states. As a hint of what may evolve, David Gray, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) engineer expects that Illinois will emphasize reclamation, and attempt to co-ordinate local and regional planning.

On July 14, 1972 William Blaser, Director of EPA suggested to Mayor William Waldmeier, Chairman of the Environmental Committee, that regular meetings between EPA officials and the environmental committee of the Illinois Municipal League be held.

Blaser recognizes that municipal officials are often frustrated by new environmental laws and regulations, and that pertinent questions and complaints concerning these policies could be aired at the sessions.

He emphasized that contact with the EPA is the most effective move local officials can make when they are displeased with environmental matters or when they do not fully understand an EPA regulation which seems to legislate against them.

The EPA constantly appears in print — it is an executive agency which polices violations, having set operating standards for landfills, etc. This agency also sees to the correction of any deviation. The Illinois Pollution Control Board has the authority exact fines, etc. against violators of specific anti-pollution laws.

The EPA has a detailed list of requirements and recommendations for the preparation and operation of sanitary landfills. A disposal site shall:

1. be easily reached in any kind of weather by scavenger vehicles,
2. safeguard against water pollution originating from the disposed solid waste,
3. safeguard against uncontrolled gases originating from the solid waste,
4. have adequate quantity of earth covering that is easily workable, compactable, free of large objects that would hinder compaction and does not contain organic matter of sufficient quantity and distribution conducive to harboring and breeding of vectors, conform with the land use planning of the area.
- 5.

General construction information states that burning is prohibited, fencing should keep blowing papers in, and area should have daily inspection; control of surface ground water pollution and potential gas movement are mandatory.

Certain gases will be produced, tapering off after the first 2 years. Methane gas causes the most concern and special precautions are obligatory so that it will not concentrate in sewers or other structures located on or near the landfill.

As for settlement, it has been proved that 90 percent occurs in the first five years and 10 percent over a longer period, contributing factors are the hill's depth, composition, compaction and moisture content. A Los Angeles landfill 90 to 110 feet deep settled 2.5' to 5.5' in three years. Continued maintenance is required because of uneven settling and to assure continued good drainage.

Planning for last December, Cook County listed 42 potential landfill sites and is preparing a study based on moving the sites farther away from suburban areas.

The EPA lists these present landfill locations: Chicago Heights, Blue Island, Palos Hills, Hinsdale, Summit, Westchester, Haywood, Melrose Park, Morton Grove, Winnetka, DesPlaines, Arlington Heights, Barrington, and of course, Chicago.

Locally, in June, State Senator Frank Ozinga acted on behalf of Palos citizens who protest having a garbage mountain built in the forest preserves at McCarthy and Will-Cook Roads. This land has yet to be rezoned from residential to industrial, and a permit yet to be obtained from the EPA.

What is happening in other places? In Los Angeles County there are two sanitary landfills, one at Mission Canyon Site and the other in the Santa Monica mountains of West L.A.

Now, even before the 500 acre canyon site is filled, many homes, costing $75,000 or more — are springing up on the ridges surrounding the site. In areas that are filled in, there are parks. A long range plan includes a regional park having several golf courses.

In Wisconsin the cities of Manitowac and Two Rivers realized they were faced with critical situation as limited and adequate dumping sites were filled. P & W Engineers, Environmental Engineering Consultants, Chicago, proposed a plan using an incinerator in the areas of greatest refuse generation — the two cities proper and surrounding villages. For the villages to the west and south, the landfill plan with a compaction vehicle would serve.

Closer to home is Arlington Heights, Ill., a community which landfill has a projected lifetime of a year, more or less. Harza Engineers are conducting a test of the pit's density, the findings to determine more exactly how much time is left before the dump is filled.

Then, the village must submit an alternate plan for filling the site to the state. One alternative is an unattractive truncated pyramid which would add 12 years to the landscape but eliminate its use as a recreational site.

An incinerator plan would add up to 15 years of life, but Arlington Heights is cool to this operation which it says is in its infancy may well be hazardous to health. Contrarily, an incinerator is being considered as a possible solution for the southwest suburban area by Oaklawn Mayor Fred Dumke.

This is the final in a series of articles by HERALD Staff Writer Mary Straub on the mounting problem of solid waste disposal. The HERALD solicits its readers to supply us with questions and problems readers have encountered with solid waste disposal. We will continue to study this problem thoroughly and to present additional articles in weeks to come.

The Northwestern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) is one of the many groups vitally involved in the matter of disposal. NIPC is formulating a solid waste plan which will be ready next year to be submitted for approval to the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Said Dick Riley, NIPC Resources Planner, "This project has been held up because we ran out of money, time and resources. The major portion of the plan has not materialized, but we have a preliminary report of solid waste disposal. It will be evaluated and then distributed as a public information source in about 3 or 4 months."

Riley continued to say that NIPC has contracted with a consultant to develop a transportation model to optimize rail, barge or truck methods of transporting refuse. This, in conjunction with determining suitable landfill sites should result in a theoretical ideal.

As a last resort — and possibly the most acceptable solution — is recycling. A paper towel now on the market is made exclusively from used paper, and studies are being conducted by the U.S. Dept. of the Interior and others on the feasibility and extension of reclamation.

On second thought

It's a shocking subject

By Glenn Logan

Everyone has heard of electric eels. Some might criticize such a statement, contending it is too broad. Well, maybe. It is possible that the Esquimaux have not heard of electric eels. And I admit the possibility that word about these creatures has not yet been carried to the Pygmies in the African forests, although I'll bet you that the Pygmies know a lot of things they aren't supposed to know. The reason I said everyone has heard of electric eels is because I have heard of them and yours truly is usually the last one to ever hear anything.

This electric eel business came into my head after reading a bit of filler about the Florida Power & Light Company. It seems that this utility firm has built a new generating plant, presumably someplace in Florida. For the benefit of engineers, electrical and otherwise who might possibly see these lines, this plant is to be a 420,000 kilowatt generating unit. Whether that is a big plant, a small one or average size, I don't know, but this piece did say the company spent $5-million to build a lake for it.

Anyone who has seen an electric iron, an electric stove, electric skillet or broiler or slept under an electric blanket knows that electricity produces heat. And apparently heat is also produced when the stuff is being produced.

Whether the production of electricity produces more heat than is generated by some of the environmental buffs when they think about or voice opinions on the subject, is difficult to say. Florida is long way off for pedestrian, train or auto travel so it may take a while for repercussions to get this far north but so far we haven't heard nor read of any impassioned plea for the power company to save the cooling lake it built from pollution by running hot or at least fairly warm water to its depths.

What the company has done is to prepare to stock the lake with catfish. The 1,100 acre lake will operate in a closed loop, it is said, with the plant's condensers. The catfish will be raised in 4 by 4 by 24-foot cages. Each cage will hold 7,500 fish.

According to this piece in the paper catfish are said to feed best when the temperatures range between 85 and 93 degrees Fahrenheit, so they are expected to thrive in the warm water.

It is pointed out that since there will be no cool season—waterwise—year-round spawning can be achieved and those in charge of the fish end expect to produce about a million pounds annually. That would be a lot of catfish but it should be a bonanza for the utility company. At one time, not so long ago the way time flies, catfish was a low item on any household budget.

It was on the par with carp, rice and beans, and generally looked up as a fish for poor folks.

The well-to-do enjoyed it too, of course, especially with the price so low. People who caught catfish just to be fishing would give it away and those who caught catfish to make a little money seldom bothered to put a pound price on the catch but sold them for 15 or 25 cents a fish, with maybe four-bits for an extra big one or a dollar for a whopper.

Now the catfish has advanced socially and is found on the menus at places where it couldn't have gotten into the garbage pail some years ago.

I'll always remember coming on a roadside restaurant sign south of St. Louis along the Mississippi advertising a catfish dinner for $1.50 while steak was available at $1.25. And that was in catfish country!

The channelcat had indeed attained respectability and I thought if they can get that price for catfish here, near St. Louis, it must be respectably, or very respectably high, in New York or San Francisco with their fancy saltwater fish. I haven't priced catfish lately but the last time I did it was well over a dollar a pound.

What this warm lake water will do for catfish, I don't know. Probably they will grow larger and when they reach a certain size no doubt they will have to be given new homes in rivers and fair sized creeks where they can stretch out. As Joseph Rust, retired village clerk at Orland Park can tell you he has caught catfish so big that one of them probably would have difficulty in fitting himself into one of those 4 by 4 by 24-foot cages.

I have never taken the temperature of the water around some of the docks for the commercial boats at the Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri but there are some pretty husky catfish there, I'll tell you. I think, however, that if anyone ever tried to catch one he would be pushed in the water or hauled off to jail.

There are always tourists feeding them, — sandwiches from nearby eating places or fishfood from vending machines placed on the docks. Those fish are worth more alive to concessionaires than they are as a fish course on someone's table.

It is to be hoped that catfish raised in the cooling lake isn't affected by the electricity, that they don't become charged up and like the electric eel give shocks.

That big horn a big channelcat has can do enough damage if one doesn't handle a squirming "cat" just right, but if sparks also came out, the price would probably jump to $5 a pound and maybe double just before the Fourth of July, or Christmas in the South.

Editorial comment

Now it's up to the homeowners

Proud homeowners and condominium owners gathered Friday evening to take the HERALD to task for its July 26 investigative article of the property owners' Frankfort Square development.

There were some not-so-proud homeowners. Of the some 60 persons in attendance less than a third of them fell into this latter category. Everyone in attendance expressed dissatisfaction over some part of their residence.

However, the large majority of those in attendance agreed they were proud to be residents of this new community budding in the northwest corner of Will County and they felt they had been done wrong by the HERALD coverage.

The article, which was brought about by complaints received by the newspaper from dissatisfied home purchasers, detailed these complaints and other and explained the position the builders, Hoffman Rosner, had taken in answering the complaints.

Friday night's meeting gave the homeowners the opportunity to speak freely of these complaints, however, it also gave the Frankfort Square residents the opportunity to show their cooperative spirit and to properly defend the community in which they have selected to make their future.

The HERALD staff had investigated for more than a month before publishing the July 26 article to detail the information provided in story. Several weeks before we began work on the article our attention had been called to the development in regard to police protection and open housing.

Each time that we turned our attention to the development we voiced our opinion that the community needed unification, needed direction, needed a homeowners' organization.

Friday evening it was announced that such an organization was waiting for its official approval from the state and that a third meeting of the entire community would be called in the next two weeks for the election of officers.

The HERALD congratulates the Frankfort Square residents for their unification and can see in this type of cooperation an effective way of dealing with the numerous growing pains any community will encounter.

Now, it is important that the organization takes the right direction and has a broad composition. Those instrumental in the formation of the homeowners' group have voiced approval of four points which we wholeheartedly endorse:

1. To become affiliated with the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce and to participate in its functions and to work closely with other communities and organizations in the area.

2. To include in the directors of the homeowners' association individuals who will give the group a broad representation from throughout the Frankfort Square community.

3. To include representation from the Hoffman Rosner Corporation.

4. Not to become political.

We have watched too many homeowners' associations become ineffective because the group failed to recognize the importance of one or more of these guidelines.

The HERALD will continue to provide the necessary sounding board for Frankfort Square homeowners as it has done for any group in the past. We appreciated the opportunity of meeting with the property owners, to see the enthusiasm our coverage had provoked and to realize the initiation of an organization we had proposed weeks before.

Don't leave children unattended in an auto

The successful future of Federal Safety Standard No. 213 must be on another planet. This safety standard pertains to safe seat belts for children. Great.

But, how many people are going to pay any attention to a safe seat belt provided by "Big Brother" when they lack enough natural parental concern to provide logical protection?

Time after time this lack of concern can be viewed by the haphazard manner in which people care for their children; observe the number of small children left unattended in automobiles — with the ignition turned on and the motor running.

No doubt our government will continue in their attempt to provide safety for those too young or too incompetent to take care of themselves. Some day, "Big Brother" will probably pass a law stating that a baby's diapers must be changed twelve times a day — wet, or not. If so, you can bet your bottom Pampers that our nation will have a diaper-rash epidemic.

For people who really desire to protect their children, the safe seat belts will be great.

For the child with incompetent parents, there is no protection.

All the love in the world will not do away with accidents but a little thought regarding a child's safety will certainly eliminate many injuries and deaths. A toddler, unattended in a car is a danger to all. A parent who leaves a toddler unattended in a car should not have a car, or, a child.

You probably could not pay one of these thoughtless parents enough money to sit in the back seat of their own car while their child played with the ignition key. Yet they leave their child in just exactly this same treacherous situation.

It may be difficult to take the child into the store, or home, if you happen to be visiting, but why not play it safe. Take the time and effort to provide as much safety as possible for your child. If your child is left unattended in a car, and something unfortunate happens, you are completely at fault.

Parents have children for several reasons. Children have parents for one reason — they need them.

Unwanted child no cause for legalizing abortion

The following is a guest editorial as it appeared in St. Michael's bulletin, Orland Park, Aug. 6, 1972.

One of the most frequently proposed arguments of those who favor the legalization of abortion is that it would enable parents to prevent the birth of an "unwanted child." For many reasons, we are told, parents, society and especially the "unwanted child" would be better off if his life were terminated before birth.

The development of this kind of reasoning in a nation founded on some of the most humane principles known to history is alarming. Nothing the unwanted child will risk is sufficient for others to decide for him that death is preferable. The whole idea implicit in the drive for abortion that one segment of society has a right to decide that another should die is abhorrent to American tradition and will inevitably undermine the fabric of the nation.

What is the solution to the "unwanted child," then?

To recognize that he does not need to be unwanted, even if his own parents do not want him. Love can be learned by individuals and by society. Can a society with our capability honestly say that love is beyond us as a solution to the problem of the unwanted child? Is our spirit so impoverished that abortion is our only solution?

Pretty bubbles

Homeowners Association last Saturday. The carnival featured many games plus a merry-go-round. Proceeds of the carnival went to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Fun time is fund time

WESTHAVEN — A carnival held in Westhaven Saturday, Aug. 5, for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association was "deemed a huge success by all concerned."

A total of $120.00 was raised in less than three hours, the total amount gained will go to help fight the disease.

Games such as bean bag, ring toss and basketball were played. A merry-go-round also was provided for the tiny tots attending the event.

Numerous prizes were donated by local businesses and were raffled off. Mrs. Francis Short won a hanging lamp; Linda Byrne won an electric timer; and six coupons for free car washes were donated.

Other donations included sand cones, dawn dolls, canteens, hard hats, boats, trucks and bottles of bubbles.

Among the Westhaven residents helping out at the various games and refreshment stands were Mrs. Geri Westberg, Mrs. Francis Short, Debbie and Janet Aldrich, Marilyn Marfoe, Lori Anthony, Joella Marfoe, Cindi Garrett, Sue Kopischke, Ray Westberg and Carol Marshall. Taking the admissions to the event was Mrs. Florence Marfoe.

Ringmaster for the carnival was Tommy Marshall assisted by Larry Westberg.

BGA probe continues

WESTHAVEN — As the Better Government Association continued to probe into the affairs of Westhaven Mayor Curtis Whitaker, other developments came to light this week involving the controversial mayor.

The BGA claims that the mayor made a 1,000 per cent profit selling land to Tekton. The BGA claims that in 1968 Whitaker bought land for close to $20,000 in Westhaven and in 1971 sold the land to Tekton for more than $200,000.

Tekton officials claim they purchased the land only because they feared Whitaker would use his power and influence as mayor to do the company economic harm.

Ironically the BGA became involved in the dispute when Whitaker called the organization to investigate Tekton. The BGA investigated Tekton, but also investigated Whitaker.

Whitaker has denied he made any such huge profit on the 59 lots. The mayor claims he made an initial payment of $32,000 to Robert Fritz who had purchased the land for back taxes.

The mayor also claims there were $30,000 in special assessment charged connected with the 59 lots. The assessments plus taxes on the property have kept him from a huge profit.

In other developments the continuing BGA investigation has also revealed possible voting irregularities in the 1967 village elections.

A BGA investigator said he had talked to a 1967 election judge Mrs. Charles Short who said that there was a system of numbered ballots in the 1967 election, which enabled judges to determine which way the voter cast his vote.

Mrs. Short said she was told to number the ballots by the Mayors wife who was chief election judge. Mrs. Short claims she was not aware the numbering was wrong because it was the first time she had ever worked as an election judge.

Short who is presently village clerk is among the anti-Whitaker forces in the village, along with members of the village board, was running for the office of clerk in the 1967 election.

Robert Scott president of the Westhaven Improvement Association and former administrative assistant to Mayor Whitaker last week said he had an affidavit signed by three of the four former village trustees stating they had given no leeway to Tekton in the purchase of 250 building permits.

Tekton claims that the company had a verbal agreement with the mayor that the companies 250 building permits would not be subject to the village's six month ordinance that states a building must begin within six months of the issuance of the permit or the permit will expire.

This year Dennis Ward village building inspector put stop orders on many Tekton Homes because the permits had expired, but the village board later revoked the stop orders.

The former trustees signing the affidavit were all members of the Whitaker trustee slate which lost in 1971 election. Ward was one of the losing trustees, and one of the three who signed the affidavit.

Jaycees busy in Westhaven

WESTHAVEN — A group of young men between the ages of 18 and 40 have formed the Westhaven Jaycees. The group has had several meetings, and has elected temporary officers for their organization.

The Westhaven Jaycees are being sponsored by the Leyden Township Jaycees, under the guidance of Mr. Kenneth McCracken, who is the presiding president of that organization.

The Jaycees is a non-political organization, open to all male residents of the village. The organization offers leadership training through community development. The Jaycees is designed specifically to meet the needs of the young men seeking to take a place in their community and business ranks.

Man dies in accident

TINLEY PARK — A 31-year old man was killed and a five-year old boy injured Friday night in a two car crash at 167th street and Oak Park Avenue.

Dead is Derek Deeter, of Chicago. Injured was Joseph Ulevicivus who was a passenger in a car driven by his father Joseph of 5151 Aldersyde Road, Oak Forest.

According to police Deter was driving alone, north bound on Oak Park when his car was allegedly struck by the auto driven by Ulevicivus, who was eastbound on 167th street.

The boy was taken to South Suburban Hospital, Deter was also taken to the hospital where he died hours after the accident. Ulevicivus was charged with failure to yield the right of way at a stop intersection.

Sieden Prairie adds five to faculty learning disabilities teacher; Mrs. Sandra Prendergast, second grade; Mr. Kenneth Stelson, seventh grade; Donald Yost, Physical Education and Health; Mrs. Mary Lou Munson, fourth grade, and Miss Patrice Guldán, art.

Mrs. Janice Smink will serve as school nurse and Fred Hart has been assigned by the Southwest Special Education Cooperative to be the school psychologist.

Book fees will be $10 per year for students in grades 1 through 8 and $15 for kindergarten. There will be a half-price cost for milk this year, with the first semester payment costing $2.79. All payments are to be made on either August 25 or August 28 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A procedural change was made in the lunch hour which is now scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Curriculum changes indicate that grades seven and eight will be fully departmentalized this year instead of grades six, seven and eight, as in the past year. In an effort to keep class enrollment well within the state recommended teacher-pupil ratio, the Board of Education created two classes each of grades six and eight.

Now there are two classes of each grade from kindergarten throughout the eighth grade. In addition, two relocatable classrooms were added to accommodate the extra classes. A permanent building addition to the Sieden Prairie School is underway, and plans for a new school to be built in the Lakewood area are being readied for construction bids.

School Superintendent Donald J. Tesmond has announced that the highly successful Open Court Reading Program is being expanded from primary grade usage to the intermediate and upper grades for the 1972-73 school year. He also noted that a completely revised curriculum guide would be put into use this year, as well as that the primary and intermediate grades would be using newly-adapted science texts and materials designed specifically for more student experimentation.

Teacher orientation day is set for August 29th. Students will begin classes August 30th.

All students entering kindergarten and fifth grade are required to have their completed health folders on file in the school office before entering classes.

Last year's Acting Principal Ferdinand Bronzell will be Principal of the Sieden Prairie School this year.

Presler explains budget for Westhaven Police

WESTHAVEN — Trustee Bill Presler, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee told the HERALD Saturday that he hopes to have a policeman working by the next Westhaven village meeting.

According to Presler, a special meeting to hire a policeman may even be held before the next village meeting.

Appropriations for the 1972-73 fiscal year of $79,000.00 for police was explained by Presler.

Presently, there are several people Presler has spoken to, non-residents of Westhaven, who are well qualified with good references and experience. If these individuals do not meet the board's requirements, the remainder of the police applicants considered for duty would be reviewed.

Currently, Cook County Sheriff's Police are patrolling parttime in Westhaven, but if a crisis arrives, the police need time to reach Westhaven, since they cover such a large area.

Presler talked with the Sheriff's Police on the amount they would charge for full-time protection. The cost would be $90,000.00 yearly, far above the appropriation of $45,000.00 for police payroll and contractual services. No police from outside Westhaven have been contracted as of yet.

Presler stated that "to operate a full-time police force a minimum of five men are required." He also indicated that 50 to 75 percent of a village's budget is for the police department. Total cost for a full-time police force would be $72,000.00 for salaries alone.

The village's two police cars, one sedan and one station wagon, are presently parked in an empty lot in North Westhaven. Presler said he had contacted Illinois Bell on 167th Street and LaGrange Road for permission to store the cars in an enclosed lot. At the present time, the stolen police radio equipment has not been replaced.

When asked if more police cars will be purchased in the future, (appropriations are $3,500.00) Presler added "probably not."

The police travel expense of $1,500.00, according to Presler, is for police traveling out of the village in private cars to attend court meetings and conventions.

In the area of fire protection, Westhaven is currently under Orland Park's fire protection.

Finally, Presler stated that the figures and terms used in the 1972-73 fiscal year budget are from the previous Board of Trustees and the wording was left just about the same as last year's.

CLAUDE AND MAUDE

Shucks, Maude, ain't no hurry

By Jean Wille

What's the difference between Illinois and Indiana summers?

A state-line, $1.75 an hourly working wage, two hours more a day, and Claude, owner of the only furniture store within a ten mile radius of our summer, lakeside cottage.

Being as our home in Illinois is only 80 miles from Claude's country, and on the same side of the equator, we are annually perplexed when confronted with the slow pace afforded Hoosiers by their 26 hour clocks.

Now, Claude starts his summers out with a "ho-hum, better take the sheets off that furniture, Maude, if you expect to sell it to some tourist."

We are still considered tourists in spite of the fact that we pay taxes like everyone else.

If a "tourist" ever decides to buy furniture for their "tourist's" house in Claude's country, they will have to buy it from a wholesale store. (Large department stores in this area are unheard of.)

"Tourists" must always consider the possibility that any purchase might be incomplete; but — "tourists" seldom do. At least until they start assembling what ever they bought.

Your newly purchased item will probably include three screws, two washers and four nuts. This brings the total number of nuts to five; you must include yourself for not having checked before paying cash.

If you rush out to make a delayed purchase of bunk beds on a Saturday afternoon because your cousin and family are coming to visit, don't expect any sympathy from Claude.

If you do make the mistake of telling him why you need prompt delivery, you will be given a wilting look that says, "men got no business dragging their women folk and kids 'round the countryside on those busy highways — traipsin' all over."

The final gist of the silent one-sided conversation being, "tell your durn cousin to stay put cause my Maude's got supper waitin' and I'm leavin'."

Things just take longer back home in Indiana. The only "dead-line" Maude and Claude have is marked by a small gate on a lovely, tree-lined country road. There is a small sign alongside the gate that says, "Cemetery." And if you should happen to die on a Thursday, you had better be prepared to wait burial till Monday, or — maybe Tuesday. We'll see.

Ding-dong Ping-pong, I quit

By Jean Wille

"Well, Theodore Michael, I suppose you're all excited about going back to school next week?"

"No, Mr. Johnson, I'm not going back to school. I'm quitting. I'm only seven years old and I've already spent so much time in school that I'm sick of it."

"But, Theodore Michael, if you're only seven years old you couldn't have been in school too long."

"I've been in school since I was three months old. I could stand on my head when I was six months old and swim the length of an olympic pool when I was 13 months old. I could write my name at 16 months and read a primer when I was two years old."

"How did you manage to accomplish all that at such an early age?"

"Oh, you know how mothers are these days. Professionals say that babies can learn at a very early age so my mother started taking me to special classes as soon as she could after I was born. Of course the first classes were strictly to advance my physical progress, you know, like swimming, stretching, pulling and somersaults. By the time I was four years old I was the tallest kid on the block."

"There really isn't anything left for me to learn until I'm old enough for high school. By that time, the world will probably have decided that too much rapid learning isn't good for a child and then I can forget high school, too."

"But, don't you feel that you might need some special training later in life when you go out on your own?"

"Oh, Mr. Johnson, I can cross that bridge when I come to it. I can learn as well as anyone else. It's just that after getting up early every morning, summer, fall winter, and spring, and going to some kind of class, I'm really pooped. I have studied geography, modern math, history, I can spell totalitarianism, compose music, play six instruments, do a triple backflip on a trampoline, cook a gourmet dinner for eight, test wine, and I've pitched 18 no-hitters."

"Well, you know, Theodore Michael, in a way I don't blame you for not wanting to go back to school. When I was seven years old I had only two years of school. I still didn't look forward to the fall and going back to the classroom, but, I did at least look forward to the summers. We sure used to have some good times. We used to hike along the creek and take a picnic lunch with us. We always kind of planned on catching some fish in the creek and cooking them for lunch, but well, you know how kids dream."

"What's dream, Mr. Johnson?"

"Well, Theodore Michael, that's when you use your imagination."

"That's when you pretend, Theodore Michael."

"But, Mr. Johnson, what's pretend?"

"Pretending, Theodore Michael, is when you're just sitting around without anything to do and....."

"Theodore Michael, no wonder you don't want to go back to school."

Juniors plan agenda

ORLAND PARK — The Junior Womens Club is looking for women who would like to make contributions to their community.

There will be a Home Sewn Fashion Show this year, Nov. 17, and a fashion show on March 30, 1973.

At the last board meeting, the women discussed tentative plans for helping the Lions Club with Candy Day, October; a Halloween party for the juniors and their guests; a Halloween poster contest for the children; a Christmas party and bazaar; and a dinner dance.

The Juniors are looking forward to a worthwhile and fulfilling year.

Sgt. and Mrs. James T. Schilling welcomed their first child, a boy, on July 27. The baby was born at the Misawa air base hospital, Japan, where they are stationed.

Eric Joseph weighed 10 lbs. 3 and three quarters oz. and was 21 and a half inches long. He was born on his mother's birthday and holds the distinction of being the second largest baby born in the history of the base hospital and the largest baby born in 1972.

His maternal grandparents are the Curtis Lorenz of Evergreen Park and the paternal grandparents are the George Schillings, Orland Park.

Co-op Ed. program in 6th year

By Gertrude Gallagher
ORLAND PARK — Entering its sixth year is a small but rapidly growing program in District 230. Known as the Cooperative Education Program it combines on-the-job training with related class instruction for students enrolling in the program.

Rich Ebert, the Cooperative Education Coordinator for both Sandburg and Stagg who started the program five years ago, said the idea is to "provide opportunities to a student so maybe he can make better choices."

The original program which offered only Distributive Education (marketing) and Office Education (office type jobs) has been upgraded this year to offer five career fields. A student may enroll in 1.) Applied Biological and Agricultural Occupations; 2.) Business, Marketing and Management Occupations; 3.) Health Occupations; 4.) Industrial Oriented Occupations; and 5.) Personal and Public Service Occupations.

The number of students in the program has increased almost 30 per cent in one year. In 1971-72 there were 58 students enrolled. In 1972-73 there are 155 enrollments. The larger increase came at Sandburg which went from 40 to 128 students interested in the program. Although no additional money has been made available to operate the program the enlarging of the available career fields this coming year seems responsible for this dramatic rise.

In addition to being prepared to enter the job market upon graduation students who complete one of the vocational-technical programs may continue in similar type programs offered by Moraine Junior College.

The program is state approved and partially funded by the state according to a complicated system based on credits.

Ebert said the trend in education is toward educating for a particular career. To enter the program the student must have a career in mind. It is Ebert's responsibility to locate a job and to place the student in a class related to the job experience. Typical related classes are Office Education, Marketing, Home Economics, Vocational Chemistry, Advanced Biology and Shop Classes.

The student attends a compressed schedule of regular classes in the morning and then goes to the job in the afternoon. In some cases the schedule can be reversed. "The key word is flexibility."

Finding the jobs in the immediate area is not too easy. The pleasant young business teacher compares his task to a salesman. "I take an order and then try to find a buyer." A prospective employer (training station) must agree to employ the student a minimum of 15-20 hours a week for a year; to pay the prevailing wage paid to learners; to lay out a training plan with the coordinator; and to evaluate the student's progress.

Each student follows a written plan of on-the-job experiences. This is based on occupational requirements and individual student needs. Orientation, human relations, marketing management and housekeeping are some of the areas considered.

The students, who will get a full credit toward graduation for the on-the-job training, are rated every nine weeks by the employer and checked by Ebert. Composed primarily of seniors, juniors are now being encouraged to enroll in the program. Ebert contends the student's academic work actually improves even though he has an outside job.

Some of the Training Stations in the area are: I.G.A., Royal Blue, several Jewel stores, K-Mart, Jack O'Donnell Chevrolet, Andrew Corporation, La Posada, Jolly Jay, State Farm

Insurance, Oak Foods, Douglas Dunhill Data Processing, McDonalds, Robert Hall, Marquette National Bank, Gulf Service Station, Dick's Shell Service, Hoffmann Engineering, Dunkin Donuts, Sunrise Heating and Cooling and John Burns Construction.

Enthusiasts of the program say, "Cooperative education may provide the most influential means of coordinating the home, the school, and the world of work on behalf of the student."

Mrs. Violet Bimm, the Vocational Programs Director of District 230, is responsible for presenting plans to the state for approval, and for coordinating the various departments contributing to the project.

Dist 135 welcomes new faculty

ORLAND PARK — Twenty four hundred students in grades kindergarten through eighth will run, walk or drag their feet into the five District 135 schools on Tuesday, August 29. Tuesday will be a short session with the first full day of school on Wednesday, Aug. 30. Teachers' meetings and orientation sessions will have been held the previous Friday and Monday.

Because the construction to the Junior High is behind schedule the four fifth grade rooms assigned to the Highpoint Building will be temporarily housed in the Park Building. In addition the Special Education class will also be temporarily housed at Highpoint. School officials anticipate transferring the pupils some time in November. All other students will report to the buildings assigned at the time of registration.

Registrations will continue to be taken until the opening of school for all students who will be attending the District Schools this coming year.

Students at the Park School will greet six new teachers:

— Mrs. Joellen Duehr, teaching 4th grade, did her practice teaching in District 135. She received a B.A. from Trinity Christian College in Palos Heights in May, 1972.

— Nancy Fulton, teaching 4th grade, is a graduate of Sandburg High School and received a bachelors degree in June, 1972 from the University of Illinois. Her students can boast that their teacher was Homecoming Queen at Illinois in 1971.

— Geraldine Knoll, teaching 4th grade, is a graduate of Richards High School and the University of Illinois where she received a B.S. in 1972.

— Mrs. Jeanette Smith, a 4th grade teacher, received a B.A. from the University of California in 1970. She has taught in the Los Angeles Unified School District.

— Bonnie Wilson, a 3rd grade teacher, received a B.S. from Chicago State University in December, 1969, and has been teaching in the Chicago schools since her graduation.

— Donald White, teaching grades 3-5, is a graduate of Oak Lawn high school and received a B.S. in June, 1972 from Southern Illinois University.

Center School students will greet:

— Catherine Begley, 1st grade teacher, who received a B.S. degree from Eastern Illinois in 1972.

— Mrs. Shirley Novack, a first grade teacher, is a graduate of Reavis High School and received a B.S. degree from Western Illinois University in June, 1972.

— Mrs. Vicki Windham, kindergarten teacher, is a graduate of District 135 grade schools, Sandburg High School, and received her B.A. from the University of Illinois Circle Campus in December, 1971. Mrs. Windham, the former Vicki Gaynor, is the third 135 graduate to teach in the system joining Donna Nicolai and Diane Bendler Schuetz (now retired to raise a family.)

Junior High Students will welcome:

— Anthony Hogan, social studies and math teacher, who received a B.A. in Philosophy in 1962 and an M.S. in social studies in 1966 from Villanova University in Pennsylvania. Hogan also received a M.A. in Theology from St. Xavier College. Since graduation he has taught at St. Rita High School and Holy Trinity High School.

James Leib, teaching science, has a B.S. from Roosevelt University in 1970. He has taught at St. Patrick's High School in Chicago.

School officials remind parents that the fees for the coming year are: kindergarten - $17; textbook - $10; towel service - $6.15 for upper grades; gym suits - $2.45 (boys), $6.00 (girls); bus (where applicable) - $50.

Bus schedules will be announced at a later date in the HERALD.

At Sandburg:

Freshmen Day will be Aug. 29

ORLAND PARK — Sandburg students who will be coming to school to pick up schedules and payment of fees Aug. 21, 22, and 23 from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1-3 p.m. are urged to use the back entrance of the school as the front parking lot is scheduled for black topping during that week it was advised by Dr. G.W. Davidson, principal.

Letters have gone out to parents of students advising them that freshmen should report for the opening of school on Tuesday, August 29 for a shortened day. All students will begin classes Wednesday August 30. Students should bring their class schedules and locker combinations. All juniors, seniors and some freshmen and sophomores will begin classes at 7:45 a.m. The balance of the student body will begin at 8:45 a.m. Dismissal is 2:45 p.m. and 3:45 p.m.

Dr. Davidson also advised that although some of the Life Safety Work is still not completed, it should be finished shortly after the commencement of classes. "Ready or not," he advised, "we'll open."

Some of the anticipated problems are caused by the fact that several of the construction projects are slightly behind schedule.

It is hoped that by the opening of school on August 29, the concrete walks and the parking lot in the front of the building will be completed. The sewers should be in and operable by the day school opens, but the water lines are not expected to be started until Sept. 15.

Current enrollment is expected at

Student Scene

Nancy Davidson, Orland Park, a junior at Rosary College, River Forest, Ill., has been elected to the academic honor society, "Theotokoin." She will enter her senior year next fall.

about 2900, and Dr. Davidson advises that eighteen new people have been added to the staff. He predicts that space will not be a problem except in the girls gym which will most likely not be ready for the opening of school. However, this is not considered a major problem as classes can be held outside during the fall.

Some of the new features at the school will be the new freshmen wing complete with a mini-library; two large lecture areas which are constructed with folding partitions enabling two classrooms to combine into one large area; and the new self-contained art department.

Mrs. Teare the new freshmen librarian advises that a new wireless learning system with four channels will be available in the library along with a good selection of books and study carrels. The mini-library will be open to the freshmen during the day, and to upper classmen before and after school hours.

Tech Center set to open

The others include approximately 250 from District 228 High School buildings, and also 26 Rich Township High School students.

Assistant director is Benjamin K. Harkins, with District 218 since 1956 in industrial arts and Co-operative Work Training, while Val Erickson, formerly with the state office Division of Vocational Education, will serve as coordinator of guidance.

Programs at the center for which instructors were recently announced are: Business Data Processing-George Bokos; Legal Secretary-Mrs. Joan Salzberg; Architectural Drafting and Machine Design-John A. Rjordan; Commercial Art-Mrs. Betty Levy; Ornamental Horticulture-Dalton K. Gray; Electro-Mechanical Technology-Christopher Pesavento; Child Care-Mrs. Carolyn Gaither; Health Occupations-Mrs. Marie Erickson with Mrs. Virginia Burke as Health Care co-ordinator.

The cosmetology programs will be taught at Beauty Schools located in Blue Island, Harvey, and Ford City. The instructors and students visited the Center on Aug. 8, for orientation and completion of matriculation applications.

Other programs include Business Machine Operations, Key Punch, Accounting and Computing, and Medical Secretary.

The faculty workshop for the Area Technical Center is now in session and will continue until the District 228 new teachers orientation on Aug. 25 and the District 218 entire faculty workshop on Aug. 28. The latter two meetings are at Richards Campus building, 10601 S. Central Ave., Oak Lawn.

Consultants from the state Board of Vocational Education conducted a staff workshop August 16. Students, their parents, and faculty from Rich Township high school were scheduled for a school visit on August 18.

Electrical work and room renovation is now underway for the IBM computer 360 Model 25 combined disc and tape system which will be placed at the Center which will be the headquarters for the IBM activity of District 218 as well as being available for a student training center.

Aguila makes centerfold in Journalism magazine

ORLAND PARK — "The Aquila," the Carl Sandburg high school student newspaper made the centerfold of the June '72 issue of The Newspaper Fund.

In a special section of its June issue was a series entitled "These Struck Our Fancy," highlighting articles from six different high school newspapers across the nation.

The issue of the April 21 Aquila which was featured, included a two-page spread on community development prepared by the staff of the Sandburg High School newspaper. The Fund editors commented that "this 'struck our fancy' as another excellent example of depth coverage."

The editor-in-chief last year was Rick Huttel and faculty advisor was William Lair.

Articles included were: "Community Growth Worries Elementary School Districts" by Paul Van Henkelum and Tim Seagrave; "Student Influx May Result in new School," by Paul Smurawski; "Crowded Conditions at CS Create Problems since '56," by Pat Hammer; "835 Freshmen Expected Next Year in New Wing" by Cliff Butz; "Increase in Population Causes Police, Fire to Expand Forces" by Regina Seibutis; "District 230 To Be Hit By Building Boom", by Kim Emmerick; "Local Realities Say Population To Double", by Marla Cerva; and "Plan New Center to Open in '75; could hire 8,000" by Chris Carr.

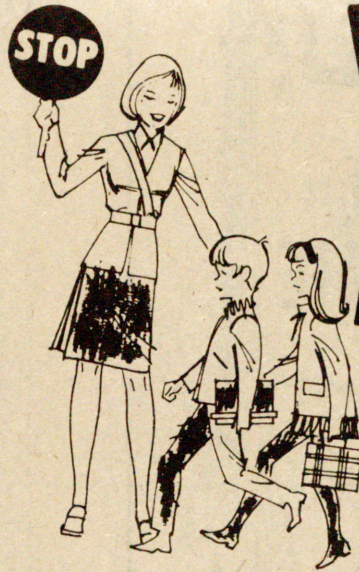

The Fund is edited for professional journalists, high school journalism teachers and college journalism teachers, according to faculty member William Lair.

Workout

Participation in high school athletics calls for top physical conditioning. Many of the Sandburg High athletes are preparing for the opening of fall practice sessions by keeping in trim during the summer. Many a Sandburg athlete has been spending time using the schools conditioning facilities as prelude to regular conditioning sessions.

Eleven join New Lenox faculty

NEW LENOX — Eleven new teachers have been added to the New Lenox Public Schools staff because of increased enrollments, retirements and teachers moving from the district, according to school officials.

Schools will begin with a half-day session Tuesday, Aug. 29, with regular classes starting the following day.

The new members of the teaching staff include:

Holly Beach, girls physical education at the junior high level. She holds a master's degree from Indiana State University, resides in Cherry Hill and has four years of teaching experience at Indiana State University and Martinsville, Ind.

Michael Belas, whose home is at West Frankfort, has a bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University. This will be his first year as a teacher in mathematics at junior high level.

John Brubaker, Lockport, will teach language arts at junior high. He has had a year of teaching in the Waukegan system. He has a bachelor's degree from Northern Illinois University.

Donald Ferrell, with three years' teaching experience at Arbury Hills, will serve as a psychologist intern working with the guidance and special education departments. He resides at Park Forest and has a master's degree from the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Dorothy Harvey, whose home is at Farmer City, is a beginning teacher and will serve in the math department at junior high level. She has a bachelor's degree from Illinois State University.

John Hoffman, also a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree from Illinois State University, will serve in the art department of junior high. His home is at Bloomington.

Charles Jones, of Terre Haute, Ind., has a bachelor's degree from Indiana State University. He is a beginning teacher and will serve in the motor facilities program at elementary level and will teach health in junior high.

Jacqueline Mortensen, Mokena, with a bachelor's degree from the College of St. Francis, is a beginning teacher and has been assigned to Marley kindergarten.

Karen Sperka, of Calumet City, has a master's degree in guidance from Western Illinois University. She is beginning her teaching career as a counselor in the guidance department.

Nikki Sherwin, of Kent, O., with a bachelor's degree from California State College, has had three years of teaching experience at Kent and will teach language arts in junior high.

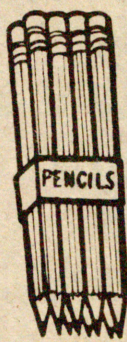

Mary Westhoff, Litchfield, a beginning teacher, has been assigned to the learning disabilities program in the special education department. She has a bachelor's degree from Eastern Illinois University.

Last year the New Lenox Grade School system had an enrollment of 2,039. The anticipated school population this year is about 2,180, according to school officials. There are seven buildings in the system and school administrators say that while this year will be a difficult one to house all the pupils, next year it will be impossible unless more room is obtained.

Dist. 145 schools set for registration this week

TINLEY-OAK FOREST — All schools in District 145 will register students for the new school year during the week of Aug. 14-18 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Textbook rental, milk and lock fees may also be paid at that time.

Textbook rental fees are $10 per pupil. The cost of milk for noon lunch is $6.68 per year. Families having three or more children in school may pay one-half of the total fee by Aug. 30th, and the remainder in January. Locks for lockers are to be purchased by all eighth year students who do not already have a school lock, while a 25 cent lock rental charge will be needed for 5th, 6th and 7th year pupils.

Prestwick

Michael J. Flynn

Everyone residing in Prestwick has done their share to keep our neighborhood beautiful. The lawns are manicured, the shrubs are most complimentary and the flowers are a joy to the eye. The Alton Baird Family of Prestwick Drive has gone one step further with their desire to have a well landscaped community. In the cul de sac called Maple Court, the Baird Family has planted hundreds of flowers and bushes of various varieties creating probably the handsomest sight in the area. It is worth a drive or walk to see this work of art created on county property.

The first truly summer day in weeks was scheduled as PRO DAY in Prestwick, Marv Rezabak, Prestwick's Pro, was out-scored by several men. The top three were Roy Herzog, Dolton, with a 69 for 18 holes; Jim Mangan, Oak Lawn, also had a 69, as did Leo Bednarczyk, Flossmoor. The men had to play 18 holes to beat Marv; the ladies played nine holes with Lill Cunningham, Maple Court and Sally Double, Markham taking the honors with a score of 48.

During Pro Day, the raffles were plentiful. Many prizes were available in the various categories. Big winners were Leo Bednarczyk, Flossmoor, with a set of woods and Don Martin, Aberdeen Road, who won a set of irons. Don also won a prize for the longest drive of the day on the ninth hole. Golf balls were given to those who were able to drive the ball to the green in one shot on the 4th and 12th holes.

The Ladies 18 Hole Golf Tournament will be played in Prestwick on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week. The weather forecasters are not cooperating with their predictions. Let's hope that the maker of all weather does not cooperate with the prognosticators. May the best one win. (That's the safest comment I could make.)

The Women's Western Golf Association Junior Women's Golf Tournament will be held in Prestwick next week. Sixty-nine women will be coming to Prestwick to try and capture the title from the oldest tournament in the nation. Among the many women coming from the United States, and Canada will be Miss Nancy Lopez of Rosewell, New Mexico. Miss Lopez just won the United States Golf Association Girl's Junior Tournament. The USGA event is the biggest in the country. Miss Lopez will be trying for the double crown of junior women's tournaments here at Prestwick.

Saturday of this week will bring the annual husband and wife tournament to the club. The couples will be playing for the club championship in the 9 and 18 hole categories. We wish everyone good luck and good weather.

In a number of issues of the paper we have written of many incidents of burglary and vandalism that have occurred. We have even suggested that the police protection in our community could stand improvement. Being fair, let me call to the attention of our readers the fact that only one minor incident has occurred in Prestwick in over three months due to investive investigative work on the part of investigators from the Will County Sheriff's Office. The increased surveillance in our area has been most productive.

Leo engagements

SAGITTA SAYS, if your engagement period extends through Leo, July 23-August 24, you must know that this is a fabulous time to make wedding plans. The Sun, ruler of Leo, graces this period with grand ambition. There is nothing small or insignificant about these solar rays which operate in terms of Soul.

Kindness and high aspiration are characteristic of Leo's rays, so during this period you may begin to notice you are thinking in terms of inviting not only all your acquaintances but the stranger on the street to share in your nuptial celebration. Be sure your wallet matches your design.

ORLAND PARK — St. Michael Church, Life is to be shared. I am the person I am, because much has been given me — life, sight, hearing, food, clothing, a home, talents, and especially love. If my person involves what others have given me, then I, too, am involved with the development of other people. I, too, can give.

Life is to be shared. If I wait for others to begin to be honest, to understand me, to treat me as a human being, I may become less alive each day. I must share my life. Communication is so difficult — but it is important to growth. It may be difficult to break barriers, to reveal my feelings, to be more honest, but the task is to become more fully human.

As we grow older and become more sophisticated, we learn that there are roles to play because there are things that I "should" do and other things that I "mustn't" do. I learned to calculate so that I will be accepted, so that I will not be hurt.

The problem is perhaps not so much, "am I accepted?" but rather, "do I accept, do I trust the other person, do I want to open myself up to the other — to say I am your friend?"

Communication can happen — if I keep trying to be honest, to listen and to love the other person. Each one is unique; each one is a child of God; each one has a capacity for so much love.

ORLAND PARK — The First Church of the Nazarene will be holding their church services at the Orland Park Municipal Building, 147th and Park Lane, beginning Aug. 13, until the new church is completed.

Entertaining your spiritual guides - ESP

Psychic advises, "Be aware."
by Mary Straub

Vivacious, hyperactive and blond Anne Rose is a psychic who admits that she occasionally gets frightened of certain spirits, and she laughed embarrassedly over the "grey man" who is hanging around her house. "He has me a bit upset right now, but I believe in the power of Good, and if he isn't good, he'll not be around much longer," she said.

Anne addressed a special meeting of the Aquarian Astrological Society on Aug. 7 at Oaklawn's Holiday Inn, and in a charming, informal manner spoke at some length on ESP and gave as many minireadings as possible.

Continuing about the grey man, Anne said that this entity seems connected to her husband Joe's current health condition. Joe is hospitalized, and the entity appeared to her shortly before Joe's recent surgery. The grey man can no longer be seen, but Anne is still aware of his presence, and he moves items both large and small.

"These things happen when you open yourself to spiritual forces," but she advised, "so, when you begin to prepare yourself for communication with these higher forces, place yourself in an aura of Good. For a protective covering around you, close your eyes and meditate until you are able to see yourself in miniature, resting in God's large, cupped hands. See a soft light radiating from your body. Then you're ready to entertain your spiritual guides."

Why should anyone bother to develop their ESP — to try to make contact with higher intelligence or other-world guides, especially if it could be dangerous? "Certainly not so much to help yourself. I can't help myself in the least; I'm always consulting other psychics. But, strive to develop your ESP in order to be of help to others," stressed Anne, and she reminded that good is always stronger than malefic powers.

"Furthermore, a very important word in psychic development, is 'aware.' Learn to be aware of your skin — does it prickle or does the hair suddenly stand up. Note sudden changes in body temperature, visual, auditory or olfactory things that seem to have no actual source. Pursue them by consciously moving towards them mentally. Note your feelings as they change, also. These subtle signals are often ignored."

Anne advised those astrologers present to trust to their ESP when they are charting. She said that much in-depth information can be gleaned intuitively if the astrologer touches an individual's chart a few moments before he begins his analysis.

Questions from the audience literally bombarded Anne, and she often turned to Daphne, another psychic — a clairaudient (she hears rather than feels or sees) — to corroborate her answers or to have Daphne's opinion.

The general tenor of these questions was, How can I grow psychically?

A variety of personal experiences were related: a young woman often sees brilliant lights flashing in a darkened room (an accompaniment of psychic ability, even if yet untapped) said Anne; a man who leaves his body in astral flight, but can't manage to go anywhere yet ("Don't force it; set yourself a destination and let it happen"); a man who sometimes sees a haze around certain people's eyes ("This means not only that you have psychic ability, but so does the person with the haze").

Anne lives in Merrillville, Indiana. In addition to giving readings and lecturing she appears on Warren Friedberg's "Psychic World" on Channel 44, Sunday evenings, and can be heard on radio station WLTH, 1370, each Monday, Thursday and Friday from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

She will also teach psychic development classes this fall. "I stress precognition — knowing before the event — because this is the way to help others in need."

Anne firmly believes that when you pray for a problem to be eased or warded off, you must ask God to let it be lifted and neutralized in the ether so that it will not afflict someone else or otherwise disrupt God's creation.

Psychically gifted as a child, Anne ignored her abilities because her mother feared that a concentration on extrasensory ability would cause Anne to neglect her school work. When she reached the age of 23, the power returned and she began to see things of the spirit world.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER BY JIM HIRSCH

How would you answer the question, "What was the greatest day in your life?" Answers will vary of course. When you think about it though, the greatest day for everyone is TODAY! Why? Because today comes only once. Today is life itself.

The sweet fragrance of today's rose may vanish tomorrow. Nature doesn't wait for tomorrow. A family togetherness today can bring joy, beauty, satisfaction. It means a great day. It means life itself. We're reminded that Charles Macomb Flaudrau wrote: "It is good for one to appreciate that life is now. Whatever it offers, little or much, life is now — this day — this hour — and is probably the only experience of the kind one is to have." And what H. L. Mencken wrote, "We are here and it is now..."

Lots of families know it is a soul-searing, tragic truth — "Here today, gone tomorrow." This thought naturally reminds us of the people who faced life and took the time, WITHOUT cost or obligation, to discuss "pre-need arrangements" with us — ahead of time. They appreciated the calming influences; were grateful for the careful counsel; were thankful they took the time to avoid confusion for others, in a future tomorrow to come. Think about it. Talk to us about it if you wish. In this, as in everything else, when we do the things we can and should do today — in life — tomorrow will take care of itself...

A week in the woods

OAK FOREST — Hayrides, fishing, games and a watermelon day were all part of the activities 165 Oak Forest girls of Oak View Neighborhood Girl Scouts enjoyed while camping recently at Tinley Creek Woods.

Carrying out a gypsy theme, the 165 gypsies registered for camp this year showed a 50 percent increase over last year's attendance of 105 girls. There were also 35 squirrels (children of the mothers at camp) attending this year.

A highlight of the camping trip was "Gypay Day" when the scouts tie-dyed clothing to wear for the day, and enjoyed an "all-camp cook out."

While at camp each girl has individual duties that range from wood gathering to cooking the meal of the day. The menus also are planned by the scouts in each unit.

Staff workers at camp were Mary Jo Purcell, camp chairman, Effie Smith, equipment chairman; Madeline Thompson, business manager; Kay Snella, nurse; Eileen McPherson, food chairman;

Betty Doherty, transportation chairman, and Wilma Woolard, camp director.

Mrs. Woolard expressed appreciation to Oak Forest businessmen who donated items for the camping outing. Local merchants included Oak Food and Family Center, T & E Lounge, Wille Bros. Redi-Mix Co. and Forest Lumber Co.

Thanks also was extended to Oak Foresters who contributed time and effort to make the outing enjoyable for the scouts. They were Peter Lavaty, Mrs. Barbara Wolownik and Floyd Shipe.

Girls at the camp site ranged from 6-13 years old and Mrs. Woolard said she hopes next year older girls will be interested in the Cadette unit of scouting.

The fee for camping was $7.50 for eight days and included transportation, food, crafts and insurance. However this charge did not cover all expenses which were subsidized by the Girl Scouts Council of Cook County.

As a final note, Mrs. Woolard said she has many items of clothing that were left behind by scouts. Girls missing items have been asked to contact Mrs. Woolard, 687-4881.

This anxious Brownie knew the game.

Watermelon Day at camp was something extra special. Leaders Mary Jo Purcell, Judy Schulz, Barbara Bensema and Camp Director Wilma Woolard think of the mess yet to come.

Laura Lindholm met lots of new friends and proudly displays one of them.

There's always cleaning up to do at camp . . . just as at home. Lynn Panek, Patty Gedrock, Karen Triplett and Barbara Allen receive the assignment.

Ding-Bats top Arbury Hills

ORLAND PARK — Those lovely ladies from Orland Park won two games last week to finally get on the winning trail. The Ding-Bats, Orland's lady softball league team beat Arbury Hills twice by 18-0 and 11-5 scores. Mary Avolio, the team's chairman said, "Last year we won 10 games but this year we have made a lot of silly fielding mistakes." She went on to say laughing, "It's really ironic but the young girls, who are always telling the mothers not to make errors, are the one's who have been making mistakes lately, I think maybe they have been going to too many parties!"

The team has three games left to play and a clean sweep of all three would give the team a positive 5-4 mark for the summer. The ladies games are played at 151st Street and 94 Avenue usually on Monday and Thursday nights.

Fore girls

Prestwick tourney site

FRANKFORT — Prestwick Country Club, near this small Will County farm community, will play host next week to 68 of the U.S. and Canada's best teenaged girl golfers.

The Prestwick course, developed by Arthur T. McIntosh & Co. in 1964, was selected for the 46th Junior Open Championship of the Women's Western Golf Association. The 18-hole course is surrounded by country estate homes owned by some of Chicagoland's leading business executives.

The girls will begin arriving Thursday of this week for practice rounds on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Residents of Prestwick Estates will provide housing for the contestants.

An 18-hole qualifying round will be played on Monday, Aug. 21. Match play begins on Tuesday with an 18-hole final match on Friday, Aug. 25.

The 68 girls, who will gather this weekend at Prestwick, will include a new batch of young golfers. The defending champion, Miss Mary Budke of Oregon (two-time Western Junior champion) is now a college sophomore and over the age limit for Junior Golf. Last year's runner-up, Miss Laura Baugh of California, went on to win the big one - the USGA Women's Amateur Championship and a place on the 1972 Curtis Cup Team.

Miss Hollis Stacy of Georgia left the junior ranks this spring before reaching her 18th birthday. Her credentials earned her a place on the 1972 Curtis Cup Team.

Two new stars are ready to take their places. Miss Nancy Lopez of New Mexico and Miss Amy Alcott of California. Nancy, at 15 years of age, and Amy at 16 already have outstanding records and all the ingredients of golfing greats, according to Mrs. William Scott, publicity chairman for the Women's Western Golf Association.

Miss Lopez first appeared at a Women's Western tournament in 1970 in the WWGA Amateur at the Rockford Country Club. She was 13 and the youngest state women's champion on record, which she had won at 12. She did not make the championship flight but she was "very impressive." This year at the Women's Western Amateur in Kansas City she not only made championship flight but in her run for the title she defeated two Curtis Cup players, the Irish Champion Mary McKenna of the British Curtis Cup Team and gained the finals.

Miss Lopez lost the 36-hole final to Debbie Massey of Pennsylvania but she gained in national stature.

Miss Alcott of California is "the first product of television golf," Mrs. Scott believes. She does not come from a golfing family. Television golf inspired her. She has her own putting green and her wish for Christmas was her own sand trap.

In 1969 at 13 years of age she was Southern California Junior Champion and has been gathering titles ever since. In 1971 she was in the semi-finals of the WWGA Junior and finalist in the USGA Junior, defeated by Hollis Stacy.

Miss Alcott went to the quarter-finals in the 1972 WWGA Amateur and was defeated on the 21st hole by the British Curtis Cup player, Miss Mary McKenna. On the way to the quarter-finals Miss

Losers open with a win

TINLEY PARK — The Tinley Park Softball League championship finals got underway Sunday afternoon on the Mental Health Center diamond. Jumping off to a one game lead, the Losers downed the Brotherhood, 17-15. A best three out of five game playoff will determine the league's top club.

Subsequent games were held Monday and tonight, Aug. 16, on the same field at 6:30 p.m. If needed, the fourth game is scheduled for Friday evening, Aug. 18 and the fifth for Sunday, Aug. 20, at 2 p.m.

Both of the finalists overcame tough opposition in the semifinals to reach the finals. Leading their semi-final set, the Brotherhood ran into a defensive minded Nickelbag Revised club in the second game and dropped a 5-4 decision to even the match. After trailing for five innings in the rubber game, the Brotherhood finally found their bats and pounded out an 18-15 win.

Smarting from a series opening loss, the Landlovers roared back and surprised the Losers, 16-6, in the second game. Both teams came back pounding the ball in the third game. The Losers shots found the holes while the Landlovers' were right at the opponent's fielders, and the Losers came out on top, 12-6.

Alcott went 22 holes to defeat one of the top women amateurs — Miss Nancy Hager of Texas, who is the former WWGA Junior champion.

In 1920 the Women's Western Golf Association started the first tournament in the world for junior girls. There was an interruption during the war years (1942) but the tournament was resumed in 1949 with the encouragement and help of Patty Berg, Babe Zaharias, Betty Jameson and Louise Suggs.

Miss Berg donated her winnings from the Women's Western 1948 Open Championship to start the junior tournament again and the "Big Four" gave a memorable exhibition to help the cause.

An under-18 won the prestigious North and south (1970), the USGA Women's Amateur (1971), was a finalist in the Women's Western Amateur this year and the TransMississippi in 1971. "The juniors of today are the stars of tomorrow with no limit to their horizons," Mrs. Scott says.

The Prestwick Country Club official course for the tournament will be 6,128 yards with par set at 36-37-73.

Rain last week didn't deter a meeting of the committee for the 46th Junior Womens Golf tournament which will begin Aug. 21, at the Prestwick Country Club. On hand to make arrangements, despite the rain were: M Mrs. William Flynn, in charge of housing; Mrs. Charles Klasing, publicity; Mrs. Joseph Bellington, hostess; Mrs. Richard Kalre, registration; Mrs. Elwin Ahnquist, transportation, and Mrs. Arthur Miller, general chairman.

Quilt skill

A "memory quilt" on exhibit at the ladies fair at the Will County Threshermen's show was made by Mrs. Raymond Lee, the former Lois Zarley, of Joliet, for her daughter, Carolyn. Put together they tell a complete family story, from the long ago to the present. It is too bad that this cannot be in color. Standing at the corner of the quilt in the rear is the maker. The quilt was about two and a half years in the making.

Auto license sales big business

SPRINGFIELD — The auto license business in Illinois is big business for the state. Receipts from the office of John W. Lewis, secretary of state, show there were 5,895,846 motor vehicles registered in the state last year and the fees collected as a result totaled $227,148,142. The fees for federal and state owned vehicles and vehicles from other states registered in Illinois are not included in the tabulation.

Cook County accounted for almost 20 per cent of the total registration and Chicago a little over 20 per cent. There were 1,215,525 motor vehicles registered in Cook County outside of Chicago and the owners paid a total of $45,172,951 in license fees, while Chicago had 1,250,674 vehicles, the license fees for which came to $46,615,341.

DuPage County was next, paying 3.877 per cent of the total of license fees in the state.

Will County's share of the state license fees account was 2.22 per cent. There were 142,477 motor vehicles registered in Will last year and the fees paid were $5,042,688.

For the statistically minded there are a total of 4,687,323 passenger cars licenses in the state, 10,063 taxis and ambulances, 679,701 trucks, 17,293 buses, 359,788 trailers and semi-trailers and 135,476 motorcycles and motor bikes.

PWC issues notes

FRANKFORT — The Public Water Commission, which recently added two new representatives to his board, will issue short-term interim notes to meet development costs, it was announced by Robert Broucek, executive director. Until the notes can be sold the costs will be guaranteed by the participating communities on a per centage basis spread over five years.

The major share would fall on Joliet, 44.03 per cent. The percentage for Chicago Heights would be 27.96 and for Park Forest 10.32. Chicago Heights and Park Forest are the two communities that have been added to the commission.

The shares of the other participating members, Frankfort, Mokena, New Lenox, Lockport, Romeoville and Rockdale are all under 10 per cent. Mokena's share is the smallest, 0.77 per cent; Frankfort's is 2.34 and New Lenox, 2.19. Romeoville's percentage is 5.68; Rockdale's 1.69 and Lockport's 5.02.

The five year obligation, per community, would be: Frankfort, $23,166; Mokena, $7,623; New Lenox, $21,681; Joliet, $435,897; Chicago Heights, $276,804; Park Forest, $102,168; Romeoville, $56,232; Lockport, $49,698 and Rockdale, $16,731. Broucek said that "No municipality will have to put up any money for its obligation, but in effect will act as co-signers." An ordinance setting up this system of interim financing was adopted by the commission at its last meeting.

Broucek explained that under recent legislation municipalities are allowed to use their revenues for preliminary plans, engineering and feasibility studies before bids are accepted.

The water commission was organized after a survey disclosed that a severe water shortage could be expected in the area by 1975. The commission is seeking sources of water other than deep wells, where the water table is dropping, and one of the sources is the Kankakee River.

Commonwealth Edison Co., recently gave the commission 80 acres along the Kankakee, south of Ritchie. When the commission begins actual operations there will be a pumping station at the river, a softening and filtration plant, reservoirs and high service pumping facilities to carry the water to the consumers. It has been estimated that the cost of the facilities will be approximately $50-million.

An estimate of the cost of water per 1,000 gallons through 1980, based on estimated population and daily consumption, has been placed at 54 cents, according to Broucek. "If an individual community uses water in excess of the minimum allocation," Broucek added. "The cost for the excess consumption will be 11 cents per 1,000 gallons."

Consoer, Townsend and Associates, a Chicago engineering firm that has been hired for the job, estimated the water system can be in operation by July 1, 1976.

Announce preventive dental health plan

WILL COUNTY — James C. Barringer, Director of the Will County Health Department, has announced that an innovative preventive dental health program was launched by the Health Department at the Park School on July 27 and followed through on Aug. 1, 1972. The dental program stressed a number of classroom activities aimed toward the education of the child in ways of preventing dental decay and other dental ailments.

The program was planned and carried out by the health department with the assistance of the Park School principal and teachers and the Will County Dental Society. The dental materials used were donated by the Division of Dental Health of the State Department of Public Health, while the Audio-Visual materials utilized were loaned by the American Dental Association.

Barringer said Dr. George Mosley, Regional Dental Consultant, observed the program on Aug. 1, 1972, and was impressed by the activities he saw, predicting that with more schools and local groups participating in the program this type of community activity in public health dentistry can be accomplished on a county wide scale.

Barringer added that dental disorders remain a major health problem today. According to dental reports, about 98 percent of the total population has experienced tooth decay, and the average child has three decayed teeth by the time he reaches school enrollment age and 11 decayed teeth by age 15. The current national picture of dental health encouraged the Will County Health Department to undertake a new approach and intensify its drive in public health dentistry.

The school dental program that was initially tried included dental health examination, tooth brushing technique, self-topical application of fluoride, dental health education and applied nutrition, Barringer said.

The Will County Health Department personnel who were involved in the Park School dental program were Dr. Moreland Emerson, Director, Dental Health Division, Dr. R. Pascual, Director, Health Education Division, B. Jaquez, Director, Public Health Nursing Division, Marilyn McCauley and Mary Liebe.

NEW LENOX — Marine Pfc. Demarie L. Buckler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Demarie L. Buckler, 212 William, New Lenox, has completed the Aviation Electrician's Mate School, Jacksonville. Aviation Electrician's Mates inspect and maintain aircraft instrument and electrical systems.

He is a 1970 graduate of Lincoln-Way High School, and is scheduled to report to Cherry Point, N. C.

Frankfort schools preparing to open doors to 800, Aug. 29

FRANKFORT — The 1972-73 school year for pupils of Frankfort Grade School District 157-C will begin with a half-day session Tuesday, Aug. 29.

Teachers, however, will report the previous day for a workshop program.

The teaching staff numbers 38 for an anticipated enrollment of 800, according to Superintendent Leroy M. Olson. There are five new members on the staff this year. They are:

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, who has a bachelor's degree from DePaul University and had done graduate work at Ball State University. Last year she taught in the Monroe (Indiana) Central system. She will teach third grade.

Mrs. Paulette Flynn, a graduate of the College of St. Francis who taught at Frankfort for two years prior to moving to Iowa. For the past year Mrs. Flynn taught in St. Joseph School at DuBuque. She will teach fourth grade.

Mrs. Barbara Hurd, a graduate of the College of St. Francis, who has had a half year's teaching experience in the Mokena schools, will work in the open program at the fifth grade level.

Mrs. Chiquita O'Leary, another graduate from the College of St. Francis, will work in both the corrective and enrichment phases of the Chelsea School learning center program. This will be Mrs. O'Leary's first year of teaching.

David Stedt, a graduate of Illinois State University, also a first year teacher, will be a part of the art instruction program in the upper grades.

This year, Superintendent Olson said, the Frankfort school system is conducting a pilot program, utilizing the open concept plan with regard to the use of facilities but with a structured, scheduled curriculum program.

This pilot project is being used at fifth grade level and approximately three fourths of the fifth graders will participate in the program, it was said.

Objectives of the pilot program are threefold, Superintendent Olson explained, better utilization of staff, provide a more individualized program for the students and better utilization of facilities and equipment.

Mrs. Marianne Baker will direct the program.

In addition, the second learning facility at Chelsea School has been completed and will be used for an enrichment program. Mrs. Sharon Stupp is director of the learning center program at Chelsea. Chelsea School additions were completed over the summer and will house all students in the grades kindergarten through five during the coming year.

The Frankfort School will be used by all of the sixth, seventh, and eighth graders in the district. In addition to the basic home rooms the Frankfort facility will contain two science rooms, one large centralized library, and vocal music-art instruction room this coming year.

Happy travelers

The conductor's cry added the Warren Rhind family, 333 Hillside Road, New Lenox, to the passenger list of the 1880 train, running from Hill City to Custer in South Dakota's Black Hills. Warren, David, Mrs. Dorothy Smith (grandmother), Edna and Michelle took the 12-mile trip in frontier style during their July vacation. The old steam engine in the 1880 train has appeared in a number of movies, also in TV's "Gunsmoke." (South Dakota Travel Section photo)

News Briefs

SPRINGFIELD — Apparent low bids totaling more than $91 million for construction and related work on Governor Richard B. Ogilvie's 1972 road program were received last week by the Department of Transportation.

The road program will include work on 2.08 miles of pavement on Harlem Avenue between U.S. 30 and George Brennen Highway, 5.0 miles south of Tinley Park. Apparent low bidder was The Standard Paving Company, Hillside, $1,247,566.

SOUTHWEST — South Suburban Hospital in Hazel Crest has received approval from the Illinois State Department of Public Health and the Advisory Hospital Council for its planning program.

"We are now expanding to 200 beds and expect to reach the 400-bed level within four or five years," said Paul Webster, the hospital's administrator since 1962. "Our expansion keeps pace with our growing community and its health needs."

ARBURY HILLS — Breakfast at Willow Run Country Club will precede the workshop scheduled for teachers of Summit Hill District 161 on Monday, Aug. 28, it was announced by Supt. Aldo Fanti.

In the afternoon the teachers will assemble with their principals at their respective schools.

Pupils will come the next day, Aug. 29, for a half-day session and regular classes will start Aug. 30.

Construction of the new Frankfort Square School, located in the subdivision of the same name in the vicinity of Harlem Avenue and U.S. 30, has begun and should be ready for occupancy by next spring, it was said. The general contractor is Stephan Construction.

Until the new school is ready pupils from Frankfort Square who would attend classes there will go to Ann Rutledge School in Lincoln Estates. Gerald Cummings will be principal for Frankfort Square School and Ronald Luedke will serve in that capacity at Ann Rutledge. The principal at Arbury Hills School is Mark Crouch.

Registration for all students will be held Aug. 23, 24 and 25 at Arbury Hills and Ann Rutledge schools. Fees will be: kindergarten, $5; grades 1-4, $10; grades 5-8, $12. Milk will be $6 for the year.

The two schools have been cleaned and painted and the grounds improved, it was reported, and it was expected that parents and pupils would both appreciate the changes, school officials said. In-service training for teachers this year will include a variety of programs. Training in art, library media, inquiry techniques in social studies, simulation and learning are among those to be offered, it was reported.

The gifted program will continue in the district, Supt. Fanti said, and a new vocational program is to be started. The state has approved this vocational program and will reimburse the district up to $800 for material, it was reported.

Supt. Fanti said many new materials and equipment have been purchased, including maps, globes, audio-visual equipment and other items.

To register for kindergarten a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 1. To enter the first grade a youngster must be six years old on or before Dec. 1. Physical examinations are required for all students entering kindergarten, first and fifth grades. New pupils in the district also are required to have physical examinations.

The staff for Frankfort Square also carried Stannye Bybee as the kindergarten teacher. The others are Ann Elizabeth Ballance, first grade; Marcia Hoffman, second grade; and Catherine Klick, third grade.

The school calendar for the coming year has a Parent Teacher conference and visitation, Nov. 6; a social studies and mathematics program on Jan. 22, and evaluation day, April 6.

Getting ready

Assistant Principal William C. Manis, of Oakview School in New Lenox has other duties as well as those of an administrator in getting the school ready for opening. Here he was moving in a lot of books, and they are not lightweights.
